Mariner's Log

As we take a look at our school--a look into the past--we are reminded of our many experiences which have led us toward our present understanding and knowledge, and have taught us lessons that will be of use to us in the future.

We cordially invite you to share with us, in these following pages, some of these more outstanding experiences, and to review our school time friendships.

DEDICATION

In recognition of his helpfulness, perseverance, and interest in the moral, physical, and mental welfare of the students, the Annual Staff hereby dedicates this book to Mr. Jim Wilson, to whom we owe our appreciation for the many times he has upheld us in whatever endeavors we have made to better our school.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-eight, being of sound mind, high spirits (especially on New Year's), and unstable physique do hereby declare this to be our last Will and Testament:

To the Juniors we leave the soft spot in Mr. Cowles' heart for seniors.

To the Sophomores we leave our gum wrappers for spitwads.

To the Freshmen we leave next year's Freshmen.

We, the Seniors are happy to bequeath the following:

- I, Bob Smith, leave my flying ability to Sherian Johnson. She should make many happy landings.
- I, Jessie Templeton, leave my skiing ability to Dan Craig, but not my ability to get out of school to teach skiing.
- I, Barbara Alm, leave my skill of entertaining small children to Billie Carlson.
- I, Ray Kranich, leave my automotive maneuverability to Billie Jean Wickstrom; also, to her go all the old cars in my back yard to practice on.
  - I, Phil Nichols, bequeath my guitar playing to Jeff O'Rourke.
- I, Lois Nichols, leave my bashfulness to Mike Lawrence (we hope he makes use of it).
- I, Herbert Middleton, will my mathematical genius (2 + 2 = 4) to Dick Caton (2 + 2 = 5).
  - I, Lois Sholin, leave my fondness for English to Sarah Wickham.
- I, Larry Edmondson, leave my cautious driving technique and my ability to dodge the cop on Saturday nights to Johnny Hillstrand.
- I, Bill Waddell, leave my ad-selling techniques (ahem!) to none other than my dear heir, Barbara O'Rourke.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The weekly rocket to the moon is ready to take off. We can see that great timekeeper, Larry Edmondson, doing nothing but counting off the seconds. He was always such a good timekeeper back in H.H.S., and he counts now as he did then--17--16--15. We can see Lois Sholin looking out the window waving at her fans, her blond hair, (oh! pardon me!it's red today) half hidden by the helmet she's wearing. Imagine the wife of an Alaskan oil man going on such a risky trip!

The seconds continue--10--9--8--Wait! Here comes the rocket's chief dish washer, Bill Waddell, late as usual. He almost missed the boat (or while we wait for him to get aboard, I'll tell you something about the rocket itself. It was built by the Herbert Middleton Company (he sure went up in the world), and was designed by that great draftsman, Phillip Nichols, who still accredits his great skill to the fact that he took mechanical drawing in Homer High. I see they're ready to take off again so we'll switch to our announcer within the rocket.

Well, here we are in the rocket. There is quite a bit of noise in here because Barbara Alm is the stewardess. She really keeps everyone happy but that could be done a little quieter and with less floor show.

Lois Nichols is one of the passengers. She has changed quite a bit--she is no longer shy, but is so unmanageable that she is being shipped to Mars to stay with relatives.

Bob Smith, our pilot, has finally got us off the ground. He's quite a pilot, and thanks to him, the company has no competition. He knocked it from the skies, literally!

Ray Kranich is the head engineer. If anything goes wrong, you can be sure he caused it.

I see we are out in space now. It's really quite beautiful outside. On our way to the moon we are taking a small side trip to the Milky Way. Here it is now. Say, what is everyone pointing at? It's a bird; it's a plane; no, it's a Jessnik, Jessie Templeton, greatest skiler in the universe, skiling down the Milky Way! Well, it's time for the commercial. So long.
